BIG FIRE AT WEBSTER.

Grocery Belonging to R. L. McMahan Completely Destroyed With Entire Contents.=Origin is a Mystery.

As result of a fire of unknown origin which was discovered about noon yesterday in the grocrey store of R. L. McMahan at Webster, the building with its contents are today a heap of smoking ruins. The fire was discovered by Chas Snyder, the station agent, who at once gave an alarm but by the time the crowd, which immediately gathered, arrived on the scene, the structure was a sheet of flame from top to bottom A bucket brigade was quickly formed and although all effort to save the doomed building was useless they were successful in saving adjoining properties after a very commendable fight.

The building which was frame, burned rapidly and the explosion of a barrel of oil which was in the cellar, added to the intensity of the blaze. Mr McMahan had recently removed from the apartments above the store and turned them into ware rooms adding new stock which will in all bring his loss to near $5,000 on which there was but a small insurance. The building was owned by Walter C Samson, of Pittsburg, Captain on the tow boat Rover and was fully insured.

Mr. McMahan states that his present intentions are to reopen as soon as possible

POSES AS GOOD SAMARITAN.

In last Friday's issue of the Belle Vernon Enterprise, which very heroically comes to the rescue of the P. & L. R. R. Co., which has recently been so grossly imposed upon by the "Independent," the editor of the Enterprise suggested a method of instructions to our reporter in regard to rear end collisions, which was in direct contrast to the teachings of his little article.

Better be careful, Brother, you are liable to bring the newspapers into disrepute and thereby cause the careful to suffer with the other kind. It would also be a good idea to instruct your worthy protege that by allowing their employes the privilege of giving out the "true facts" instead of telling you to go to —— and get your news, such deplorable errors could be avoided.

No matter how cleverly you word your little item, your real object is always clearly exposed to the fair minded and intelligent reader.

IT is sometimes pretty hard to "butt in" politics and get an office if the people know you are doing it only to "feather a private nest." In this day and age of progress a man must be sincere when he files an application with the people for a position as a public servant.

DAVIS, the cashier of the Washington, Ind., bank, who stole $90,000 of the funds trusted to him, served five years in prison, and is now free. Eighteen thousand dollars a year for being a thief is pretty good salary, but the courts know their friends.

ISN'T it strange that the working class will strike against the bosses, starve to get some better condition, fight to get a job, and still go and vote for the wage-system? By their votes, intelligently cast, they could have the world and everything in it.

PEOPLE who do a good business do not need to go around and run the other man down, it's bad policy. If you are successful yourself, you don't need to lie about the other fellow.

The Little Reporter

[Orizinal.]

It was Saturday night in St. Petersburg. On the morrow the subjects of the white czar were to march to his palace to present a monster petition. In the office of the Fatherland the managing editor sat alone. The night force had not yet reported for work. A footstep was heard climbing the stairs, and presently a boy not more than fourteen years old came into the office.

"Are you the editor?" he asked.

"Yes, sonny. What can I do for you?"

"I thought that since there's to be trouble tomorrow you might need extra help."

"You think that you'd like to march at the head of the petitioners and receive the first fire of the troops?"

"The 'Little Father' will not let his soldiers fire on his people."

"Sonny, the people are deceived. This time tomorrow our streets will be drenched with blood."

"Well, my mother needs food, and I must make it for her any way I can. Shall I march with the petitioners tomorrow and send you copy?"

"You have worked in a newspaper office before."

"Yes."

"Come around in the morning, and I may find work for you to do in the office."

The next day the name Ivan Ivanovich was entered on the rolls of the Fatherland. It was Sunday morning, and the excitement in the office was intense. The managing editor was in no good humor. Every reporter on the paper had sent in some excuse for not appearing for service. Little Ivan, while carrying copy upstairs to the composing room, passing the sanctum heard his chief threatening to discharge every mother's son of them. The boy went in.

"Why can't I go out to report the march of the petitioners?" he asked.

"Get out of here!" snarled the editor. "Am I reduced to sending children out on assignments?"

The boy went on his way, and the editor went on growling at his reporters.

An hour later the children of the "Little Father" commenced their march. With a priest as their leader, without the slightest show of force, like a flock of sheep, they were going as humble supplicants. Walking in the throng was Ivan Ivanovich. He had taken a pencil and paper and, leaving the office without permission, hurried away to fill the gap left open by the nonappearance of the reporters. On marched the people, unopposed for a time, but presently a row of bristling bayonets appeared in the distance, and an officer was sent to order the petitioners to halt.

"We are going to see the "Little Father" to tell him of our wrongs. He doesn't know how his subordinates treat us. We are going to tell him."

The people, consisting of men, women and children, kept right on in the face of death. The little reporter, who had fallen behind while writing his report of the march, saw a boy about his own age running toward the rear. Ivan called to him and asked where he was going.

"I'm going to get out of this. The troops will fire with ball cartridges."

"Hold on a bit," said Ivan, and he wrote a few more words. "There it is," he added, "'with ball and cartridges.' Since you are going, please take that to the office of the Fatherland."

The boy grasped the message and sped away. Ivan crammed his pad and pencil in his pocket and pushed through the crowd to the front. Just as he wriggled between those facing the troops there was a sound of many explosions, and a moment later the crowd where the boy stood looked like the edge of a field of grass over which the first sweep of a scythe had passed.

Half an hour later a surgeon took hold of the limp figure of a boy and, holding him up, asked:

"Are you hurt?"

"Yes, I am. I fear I shall not be able to get my copy in to the office. I haven't even written it out."

"Never mind your copy. If I can save you"—

"You can't, and since you can't you might save my copy for me."

The surgeon looked at the boy in amazement.

"I've sent an account of the march and had just come up in time to be in at the firing. I've written some notes for them to fill in at the office if I can only get them there. Can't you find a messenger for me, doctor?"

Meanwhile the managing editor of the Fatherland had picked up hearsay reports as the petitioners began to march and was sending them through the presses. A boy came in and laid a paper on his desk.

"What's this?" he asked.

"Ivan said it was copy." And he told how it had been given him by the young reporter. The editor listened, astonished, then sent the copy upstairs, with the order to "kill" what had gone before. Later a man came in with another batch of copy, or, rather, blood stained notes, on the firing on the people by the czar's troops. The editor filled it out himself and sent it to the printers.

Pathetic as was the story, more pathetic was the last arrival from the front at the office of the Fatherland. It was the body of the little reporter on a pushcart, sent in by the surgeon who had picked up Ivan. It was carried up to the editorial sanctum and laid on a writing table. There, covered with flowers, it was visited by hundreds who had heard of the boy's heroism.

Chicago Society Woman Who Was So Sick She Could Not Sleep or Eat, Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

When a woman's kidneys go wrong, her back gives out and every little task becomes a burden. She is tired, nervous, sleepless, run down—suffers daily from backache, headaches, dizzy spells, and bearing-down pains.

Don't worry over imagined "female troubles." Cure the kidneys and you will be well. Read how to find the cure.

Marion Knight, of 33 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill., member of the Chicago Federation of Musicians and a well-known club woman, says: "This winter when I started to use Doan's Kidney Pills I ached in every bone and had intense pains in the kidneys and pelvic organs. The urine was thick and cloudy, and I could barely eat enough to live. I felt a change for the better within a week. The second week I began eating heartily. I began to improve generally, and before seven weeks had passed I was well. I had spent hundreds of dollars for medicine that did not help me, but $6 worth of Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to perfect health."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Miss Knight will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Tastes good and is harmless.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

The tar that is contained in Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is harmless. It is not coal tar, but is obtained from the pine trees of our own native forests. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is the best remedy for colds because it acts on the bowels—thus expelling all colds from the system. Bee's is the original Laxative Honey and Tar, and is best for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, lung and bronchial effections. Sold by C. A. Light.

Don't frown—look pleasant. If you are suffering from indigestion or sour stomach, take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hon. Jake Moore, of Atlanta, Ga., says: "I suffered more than 20 years with indigestion. A friend recommended Kodol. It relieved me in one day and I now enjoy better health than for many years." Kodol digests what you eat, relieves sour stomach, gas on stomach, belching, etc.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

A liquid cold cure for children that is pleasant, harmless and effective is Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. Superior to all other cough syrups or cold remedies because it acts on the bowels. An ideal remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough and all curable lung and bronchial effections in child or adult. Pleasant to take. Sold by C. A. Light.

If you are troubled with Piles and can't find a cure, try Witch Hazel Salve, but be sure you get that made by E. C. De Witt & Co., Chicago. It is the Original. If you have used Witch Hazel Salve without being relieved it is probable that you got hold of one of the many worthless counterfeits that are sold on the reputation of the genuine De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

The gums and resins obtained from pine trees have long been reconized as highly beneficial in the treatment of backache, kidney and bladder troubles. Pineules is the name of a new medicine, the principle ingredients of which come from the pine forests of our own native land. Sold by C. A. Light.

Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. A certian cure for coughs, croup and whooping cough. Makes breathing easy, cuts out phlegm, and draws out the inflammation. It should be kept on hand for immediate use.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

It is not difficult to relieve blind bleeding, itching or protruding piles with ManZun, the great pile remedy. It is put up in collapsible tubes with nozzle, and may be introduced and applied at the seat of the trouble. Stops pain instantly. Sold by C. A. Light.

Indigestion is much of a habit. Don't get the habit. Take a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after eating and you will quit belching, puffing, palpitating and frowning. Kodol Digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet—Sold by R. W. Beck.

For bloating, belching, indigestion, etc., eat a Ring's Dyspepsia Tablet after meals. Sold by C. A. Light.

The best safeguard against headache, constipation and liver troubles is De Witt's Little Early Risers. Keep a vial of these famous little pills in the house and take a dose at bedtime when you feel that the stomach and bowels need cleansing. They don't gripe.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

Salve! Salve! Spread the Salve, but let it be Pine Salve, natures remedy for cuts, burns, sores, etc. Sold by C. A. Light.

Diphtheria, sore throat croup. Instant relief, permanent cure. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drug tore.

For headache, constipation, etc., Dade's Little Liver Pills are the best. They cleanse and tonic the liver. Sold by C. A. Light.

MASKED ....DEATH

[Original.]

This story was told on the night before Mardi Gras.

"Our nobles, Gilderstane," said the prince to his prime minister, "are fast degenerating. While there is no evil in them, there is no good. Some wizard has cast upon them the spell of frivolity. Their days are given to out of door sports, their nights to dancing and feasting."

"I have pondered, your highness, on their condition and have concluded that they can only be brought to their senses by some impressive lesson."

"Have you a plan?"

"I have. I would suggest that your highness issue an order for a grand masquerade to be given at the palace."

"Do you desire our attendance?"

"Only for a brief space."

The prince sat in deep thought.

"Gilderstane," he said at last, "you have given us many proofs of your wisdom as well as of your fidelity. It shall be as you desire."

A royal command was issued for a masquerade that was to exceed in splendor any fete that had been previously given. Society at once dropped pleasure in the present to take a firmer hold on pleasure in the future. All were busy hunting original costumes. The principality was scoured for the oddest, the richest costumes, while artists were called upon to produce the most fantastic designs.

The evening arrived. The palace was a blaze of lights and, though it was winter, its interior resembled a garden of the tropics. The arriving guests sprang from their carriages with eager steps and hurried into the palace. Pleasure had been pent during the interval of preparation and was now ready to burst forth with new vigor. Brilliant lights fell on resplendent costumes. Jewels received the rays, broke them and sent them back in dazzling hues. The music had in it a quickening thrill to set the blood coursing, the feet living. There were girls with supple figures, women with queenly ones, slender youths and men of stately mien, all swaying, rocking in the dance. As the hours flew by the music grew madder, the dancing more abandoned. From a supper room came popping of corks, bursts of laughter, shouts of merriment. The dancers, breaking from prescribed forms, danced alone. Ivory arms waved aloft. Beneath a fringe of silk and lace shapely feet in kid fluttered like the wings of a swarm of white butterflies.

The clock struck 12.

The music stopped.

The dancers, wondering, paused and stood still.

Two lackeys threw open a portal, and the prince, attended by his suit, entered, moving silently and amid silence to the throne. When he was seated four masked men came through a side door bearing a bier covered with a canopy of satin and velvet and, making their way through the guests, who opened before them, set it down in the center of the ballroom. Then, while the revelers looked on with repressed expectation, one of the bearers removed a pall and uncovered a figure masked and in costume.

"What a singular feature!"

"His highness has outdone himself in originality!"

"Who could have consented to play so grewsome a part—the part of the dead?"

"Is he dead?"

"Dead! He will arise presently and give us a novel dance, something never seen before. Come, let us form a ring and spin about him to give him inspiration."

The speaker seized the hand of a girl looking on, and, willy nilly, she was carried along, others joining till a circle was formed extending to the very limits of the ballroom, all dancing, shouting, singing round and round.

Presently one of the dancers broke from the ring and advanced to the bier.

"Come," he said, "arise and give us the dance of death." And he tore away the mask.

A thrill of horror shot through the crowd. There, rigid, a form of clay, a face of marble, cheeks hollow, eyes sunken, chin dropped upon the breast, lay the earthly part of one who a few days before had been the merriest man in the principality.

The assembly stood as if petrified. If there were sounds, they were gasps of horror; if there were movement, it was by some who had fainted. The prince sat immovable. From the foot of the throne the prime minister advanced a few paces, then stopped and spoke:

"Fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee."

There was a silence during which the speaker kept his finger pointed to the corpse and his eye fixed on the people. The prince sat silent on his throne, rigid as a figure of stone. For a time no one moved or seemed to move, but presently the throng grew thinner. When all were gone the prince descended from his throne and, hand in hand with his prime minister, left the room. Lastly the bearers took up the corpse and bore it away, the lights were turned off, and where there had been a flare of splendor a single star looked in through a window.

From that time the prince had the satisfaction to see his people enter upon a new era. Temples to the arts and sciences sprang up; homes for the poor and the sick were erected; libraries were collected. Where before only the playhouse and the ballroom were attended, now eminent thinkers spoke to crowded audiences, while those whose work it was to cultivate the soul reaped a rich harvest. A splendor of pleasure had given way to a splendor of morals and intellect.

WEBSTER NOTES.

Mrs. Mary Fisher was in McKeesport Saturday on a business errand.

Wm. Fitch and son Everette were calling on friends and relatives at Roscoe yesterday.

Arthur Wiggington spent Saturday evening and Sunday with his parents at Homestead.

Miss Edna Foster, who lives with her sister at Gibsonton, was visiting her parents over Sunday.

Mrs. Rothey and daughter, Ivy, of Elizabeth, spent Sunday in town with Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McMahan.

Chas. Kyle, manager of the Federal Supply, is in Pittsburg today buying new spring goods which will be ready for display soon.

Miss Della Amann, who has been ill for the past few days, is again able to resume her duty at the Federal Supply Co., store.

Clarence Fell, of West Brownsville, and Albert Fell, of Wilmerding, were in town over Sunday spending the day with their parents.

The recent heavy snow is doing considerable damage to the fruit trees in this vicinity and the farmers are greatly alarmed for fear the entire crop will be ruined.

The funeral of Wm. Bland who died at his home at Webster, Thursday, took place yesterday, interment in Gilmore's cemetery. Deceased was a member of the Red Men, Sons of St. George and the Sons of Temperance. He was respected by all who knew him.

A negro acting suspicously was found roaming about Webster last evening and when finally located and asked to explain his mysterious conduct by several of the citizens, his answers were far from satisfactory. He was detained until this morning when he was released, with the understanding that he choose some other place in future to do his prowling around at night.

In Police Court.

On complaint of residents, an alleged sporting house was raided Saturday, near Ninth street, by the local police force. Three women and three men were found and taken to the boro building, where they posted forfeits and were released. The women, Tessie Moore, Mabel Bates and Lulu Williams, all colored, were taxed $25 each, while the visitors were let off with $10 each. They all failed to appear for a hearing.

The joint at Twelfth street was also raided on a warrant served by Leopold Waxman, of McMahan boro. Two women and three men were the gathering at this place and they were taken to McMahon boro. They will be given a hearing tomorrow morning before Justice of the Peace A. L. Vaness.

If this activity on the part of the authorities keeps up, Monessen will soon be experiencing, morally speaking, the cleanest period of her brief career.

Gets Girl's Assailant.

David Hancock, of Scott Haven, a young miner, was held to await the outcome of the injuries he inflicted on Wednesday night on Maipie Newell, inmate of a house on Market street, McKeesport, whose throat he cut in a fit of jealousy. Hancock was arrested at his home on Thursday night by Constable August Neneseck, of Sutervile, and the first thing he asked was whether the girl was dead. He said before Alderman Mansfield at the McKeesport police station, yesterday morning that he did not mean to kill the girl. The girl is in the McKeesport hospital and her recovery is thought probable.

Letter to E. L. Cronemeyer,

Monessen, Pa.

Dear Sir: When you can buy paint for less than Devoe; don't: save your money.

Mr Aaron Higgins, Plainfield, N J, always used 15 gallons of paint for his house; Devoe took 11.

Mr Ezra Rathmell, Williamsport, Pa, always used 11; Devoe took 6.

Mr Bert Young, Girard, Pa, always used a gallon for certain rooms; took half as much Devoe.

Mr. Nathaniel Barber, Canton, N Y, bought 12 Devoe; used less than 6.

You can always buy paint for less than Devoe; don't: save your money.

The wearing counts the same way and doubles the difference.

The cost of painting is by the gallon. Weak paint cost most; most gallons.

Yours truly

Dr. Andorf--noted specialist and expert in curing diseases will be at Monessen one day each month and will be at the Fifth Avenue Hotel MONDAY, MARCH 12th, one day each month where he can be consulted free of charge--at his private office at the hotel.

Remarkable Cures.

Dr. Andorf does not accept a case that he cannot cure. Thus insuring all against any loss of time if they consult him. His many years of experience enables him to make so many wonderful cures. Skill, science and experience all combine to secure such eminent results in the treatment of all chronic, private and special diseases. Hundreds of the most stubborn cases have yielded to his skill, where others have failed.

Hopeless Cases.

We specially invite all those who have been treated elsewhere without benefit, let us show you where the fault was. Your case has not been properly diagnosed or improperly treated. Call on Dr Andorf and secure his opinion free of charge and then you will realize why you have not been cured. Do not become despondent, but come and you will realize again that your case can be cured and again enjoy health and happiness.

What We Treat.

Dr. Andorf treats all special and chronic diseases of men and women. No matter what your complaint or how long you have been sick, our experience has been varied in hospital and private practice enabling us to treat successfully all diseases.

Rheumatism.

We cure this painful disease in a short time, give you instant relief, remove all swellings from the joints and remove all poison from the system.

Kidney and Bladder.

If you are suffering from any disease of the Kidneys such as pains across the back, urine discolored, dull pains and headache, you should not neglect this as it always leads to serious complications and death. The Bladder often causes trouble such as burning of the urine, frequent desire to pass it and inflamation of the glands, causing severe pains. We stop this in one week's treatment and effect a permanent cure.

Nervous Troubles.

Are you nervous, easily excited, flushes of heat and cold, heart trouble, dizzy spells and weakness? Then you should by all means consult us before your disease becomes incurable. We remove all these symptoms by our treatment and guarantee you a permanent cure.
